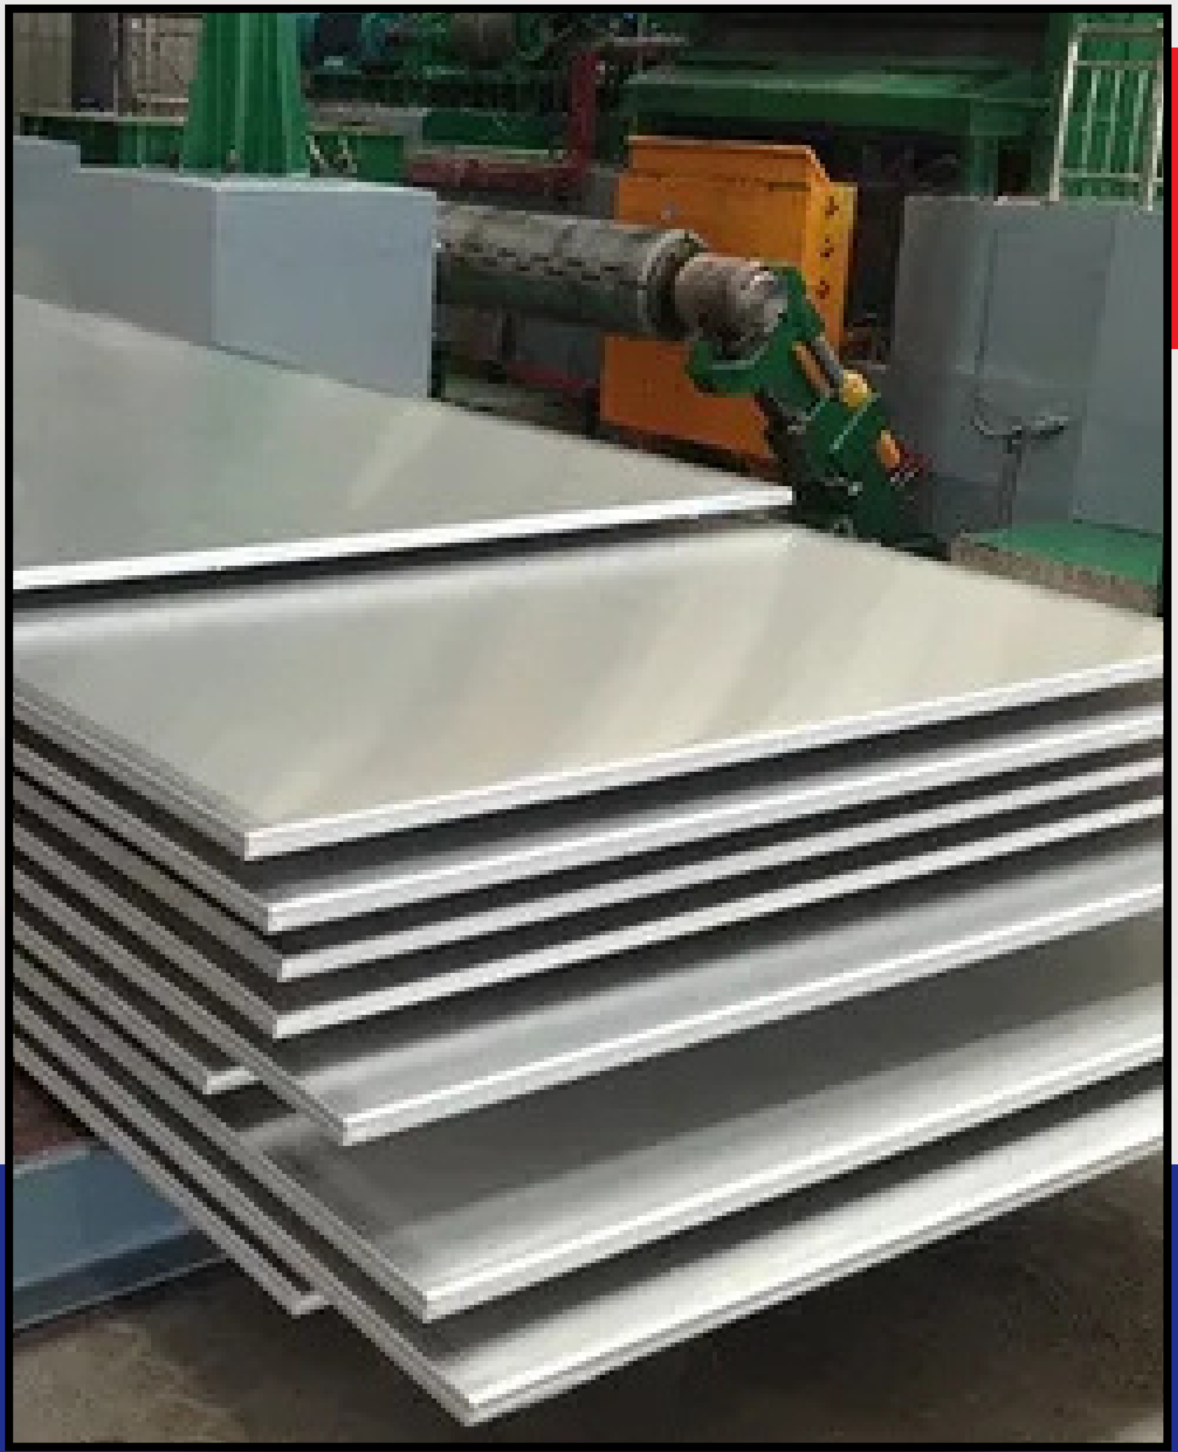
Titanium Sheet



Aluminium Sheets

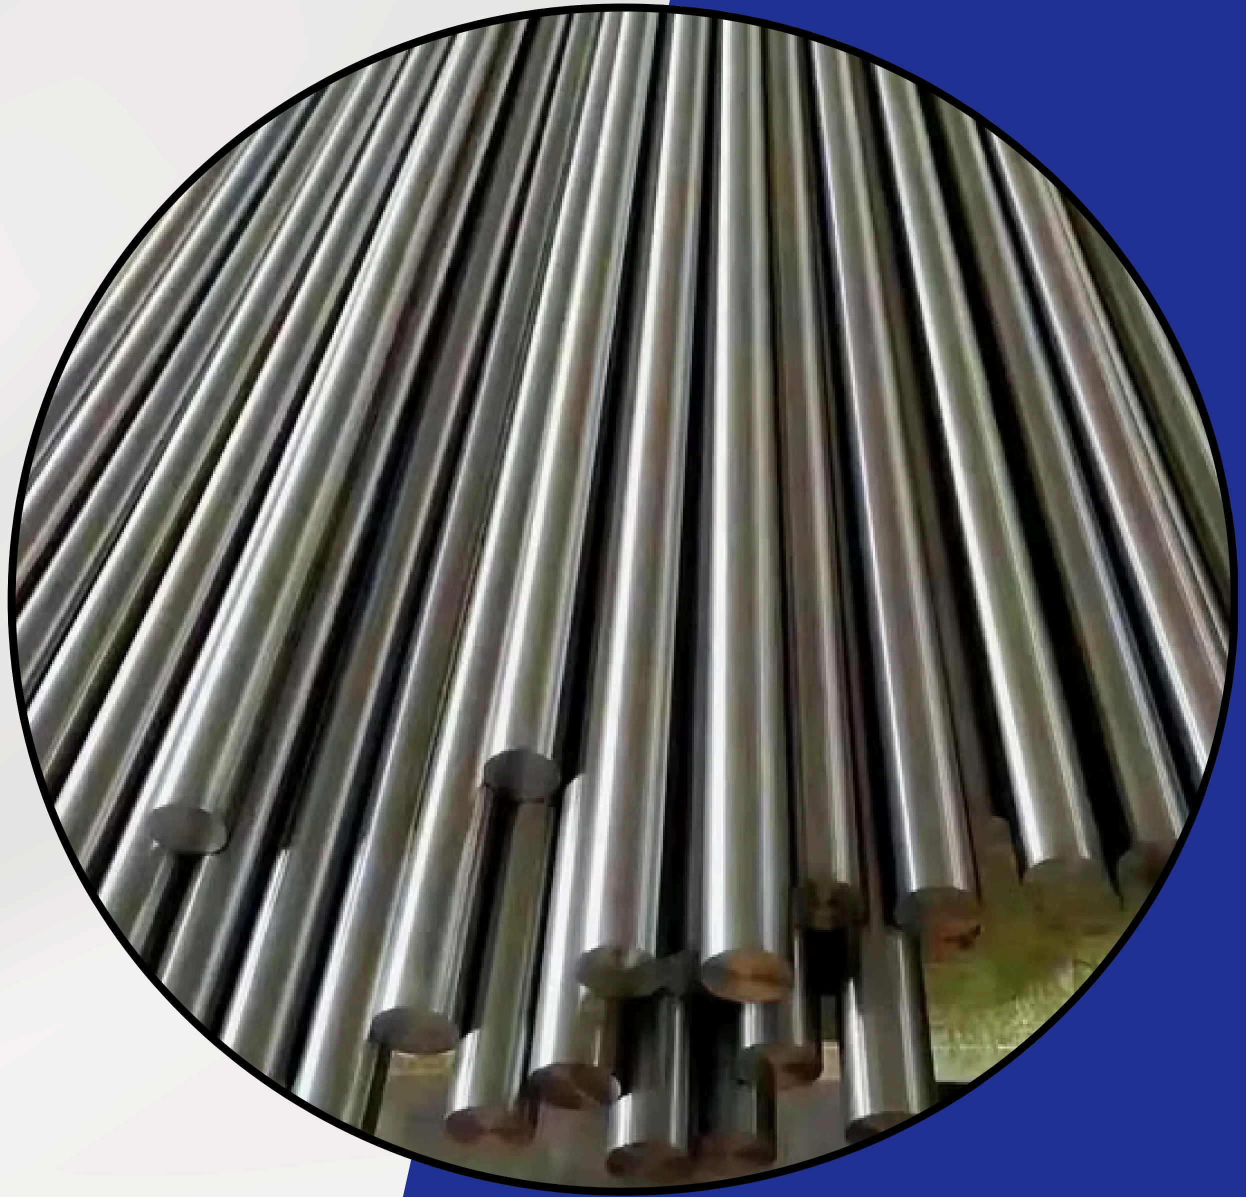
Aluminium sheets are lightweight and easy to process with high corrosion resistance. They are widely used in manufacturing industries, available in different thicknesses, and offer flexibility for various applications.

Aluminium Round Bars

Aluminium round bars offer high strength and durability, making them ideal for machining and fabrication. They are corrosion-resistant, available in multiple diameters, and widely used in engineering applications.

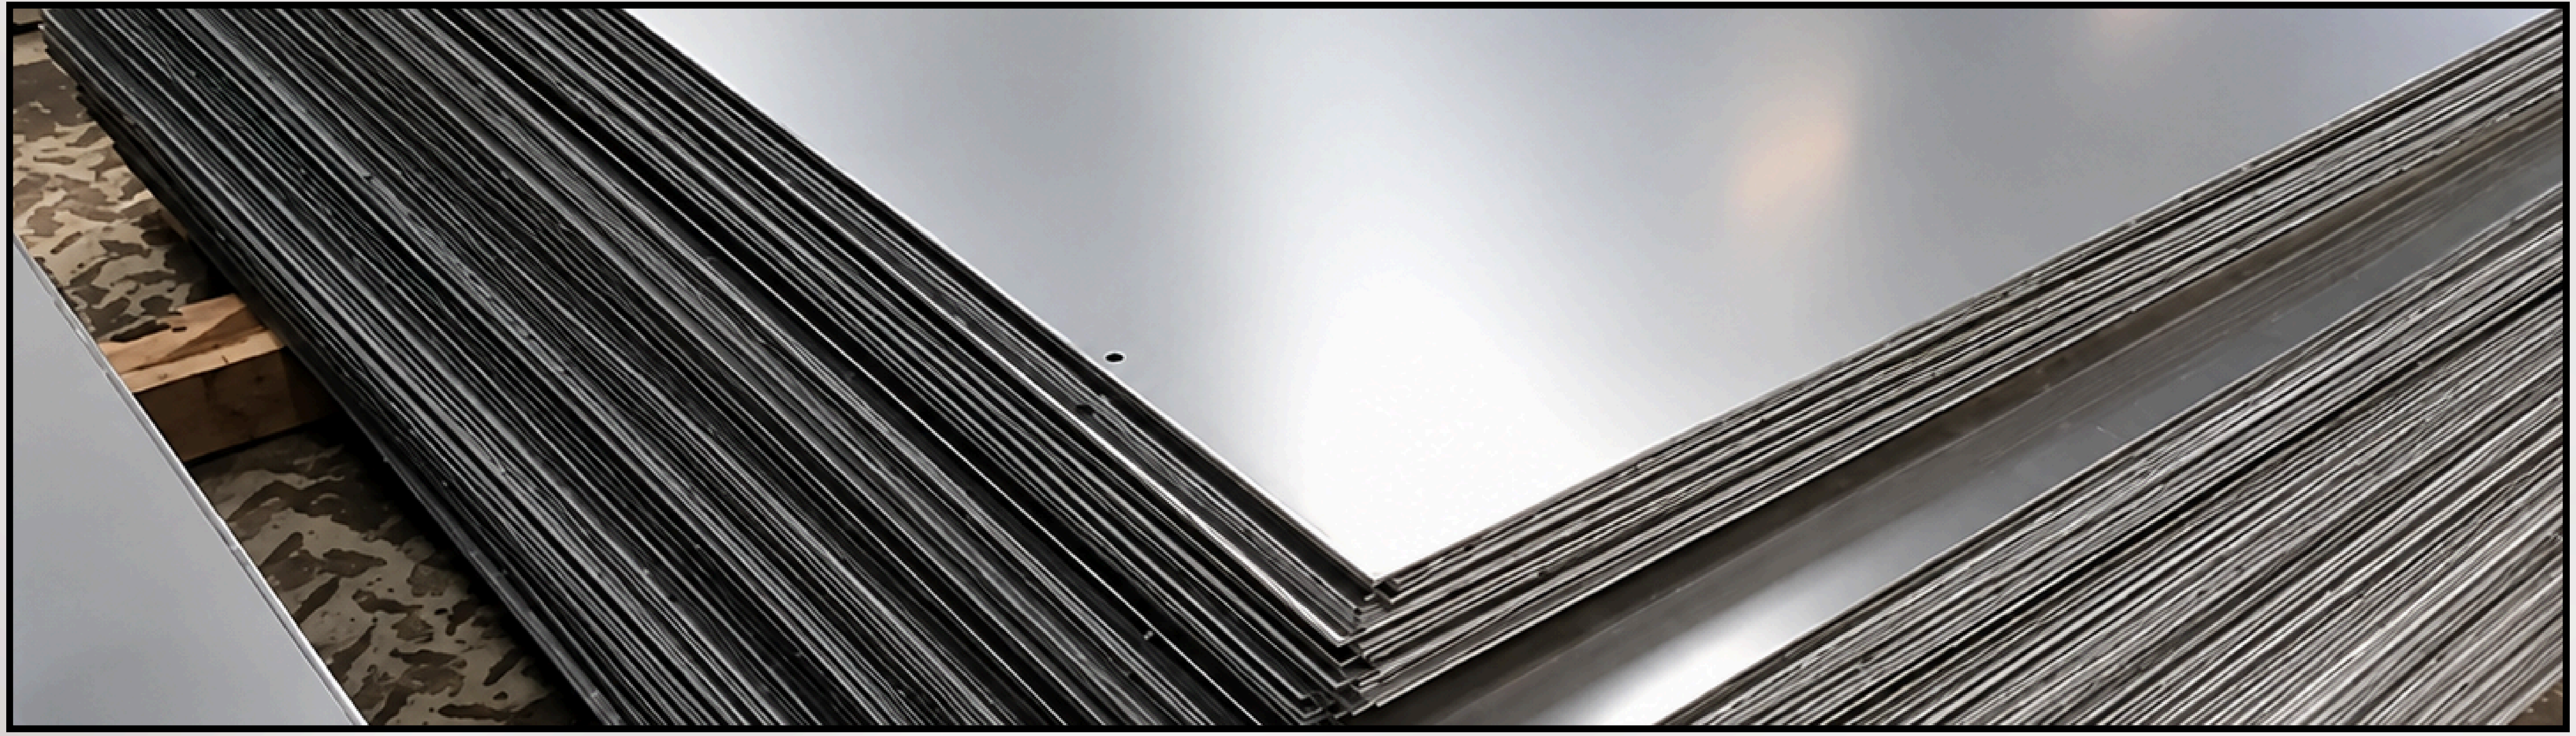
Titanium Round Bar

Titanium round bars offer a high strength-to-weight ratio along with excellent corrosion and heat resistance. They are widely used in aerospace, marine, and chemical industries, delivering superior durability and reliable performance in extreme engineering applications.



Titanium Sheet

Titanium sheets_are lightweight yet highly strong materials with excellent corrosion and heat resistance. They are easy to fabricate and widely used in aerospace, marine, and chemical industries for high-performance engineering applications.



Quality Assurance

- Strict quality control system
- Premium raw material usage
- Tested for strength and durability
- Industry-standard compliance
- Consistent product performance

Manufacturing Strength

Metro Export follows advanced manufacturing techniques with a skilled workforce and modern machinery, ensuring an efficient production process with a strong focus on precision engineering.

Key Advantages

- High-quality aluminium products
- Competitive pricing
- Timely delivery assurance
- Wide industrial usage
- Strong customer trust

Our Accomplishments

Metro Export has built a strong reputation in the aluminium industry by consistently delivering high-quality products and maintaining customer trust. With reliable performance and a commitment to excellence, the company continues to successfully serve diverse industrial sectors across India.
